

Yu Garden

Yu Garden is a classically Chinese garden built in 1577 by Pan Yun Duan, a government officer of the Ming Dynasty. This elegant 5-acre garden, located in Old Shanghai, is home to scores of priceless early Chinese paintings and calligraphic masterpieces.

Yu Garden was opened to the public in 1961 and its authenticity of the garden has been well-preserved. Short arched bridges with cobblestone smoothed over by man and time and stone, pavilions hiding ghosts of poignant memories, ponds the color of jade - bejeweled with a sea of glittering koi, courtyards cocooned within lush greenery and protective bamboo trees, all add to its enchanting atmosphere.

This famously stunning garden has been graced by the visits of world-renowned dignitaries that include Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth of Britain.

Xintiandi

Xintiandi

Xintiandi is an urban-lifestyle tourist attraction located close to Shanghai's city centre and main shopping boulevard that is Huaihai Lu. Xintiandi achieved international acclaim in restoration by successfully preserving its "Shikumen", which is a type of East-meets-West tenement housing unique to Shanghai in the 19th century.

At Xintiandi, one can find art galleries, fashion boutiques, cinemas, tea houses and a myriad of restaurants serving international cuisine. At night, the atmosphere becomes charged with live music and friendly chatter. The dramatic backdrop of the city centre's skyscrapers illuminates where its shadows stood just moments before. Here, al fresco dining presents the perfect opportunity to savor all the zest Xintiandi can offer.
